

RUN NO. 43 - SUNDAY 9TH SEPTEMBER

HARE: Lancelot

This run was just as the "Billboard" described it - splendid views, new trails and no tar. Yes, the views had to be good we were so high up, the trails were so new that not even the locals would use them, and although there was no tar there was plenty of mud!

As we completed the car rally section the passengers in our car kept muttering, "I thought we were going hashing, Daddy?" However, when we arrived at the ON-ON the area looked ideal for a HASH except for the fact that the Knight was in Charge and we were afraid that the Night might take Charge if he kept to his usual length of run.

After waiting sometime for the Mismanagement the run set off with 18 hashers heading downhill - (bad news for a start). Drag Queen lead across the first suspension bridge with other hashers "spaced out" across the bridge (Well, it was "high"). The trail looped off around a vertical tea plantation to give the tailenders a chance to cross the bridge.

It was up the left bank of the Hula Ganga and upwards. Timid Toad was the first to take the pack through a muddy stretch and this very effectively kept the pack together.

Soon Vaguely-Ramblington was heading the pack back down towards the river. Two short cutters Tricky and Late Starter were spotted far below and assuming that they were on paper (Vaguely's excuse) we were led downwards across the sacred bar and inevitably we had to back track up the hill.

Deep Throat then led off through the dark, dark wood, across paddy (and more mud) and back to the river with two further suspension bridges and a check circle to confront us. One hasher(?) even tried river crossing, but even the helpful wobbly wouldn't go with him. Eventually logic prevailed and Timid Toad led across the first bridge with Drag Queen taking the initiative to cross the second bridge. Paper was eventually found again on the right bank and except for Timid Toad, most runners headed off downstream for a good run in.

Back at the Down-Down and Apostle came in looking like he had been lying down on the job and Tricky hobbled in with an injury sustained whilst parachute jumping.

All in all an excellent run finished off with a professional rendition of an old (cleaned up?) version of a Scottish Rugby song(?).

Lemonade Run

Twenty two lemonaders piled into two awaiting Landrovers for our Sunday school outing, we were driven and abandoned at the hill top to follow, we had been told, a new variety of coloured hash paper.

We set off down hill to the first check. The older children made up of Blacks, Brown and Whites went Creraring down over a bar and were completely lost. That then as then on-OK over a small dog bridge... is who sent some of us off in the wrong direction. Having righted ourselves, we were next confronted with a fairly large expanse of water where Mars carrying Mini Mars needed some assistance crossing. Scotch Broth also came to the rescue here aiding his condensed relations to safe ground. The next piece took us to paddy and more water up a small hill to a village where Sniffer Dog was in his element.

The final run in led us all unavoidably through more water up a steep incline where Ministroni led the lemonaders home.

Congratulations to Sniffer Dog for completing the run on his own two feet for the first time!

Run Directions

Run No. 44 - Udispattu

Sunday, 23rd September at 1630

Hares: Owl
Prydovour Alley

Drive along New Road over Hula Ganga Bridge to Teldenya barrier. Turn left up old road, set tripmeter ("In a recent poll, nine out of ten visitors to a well known dam said they preferred to drive along the old road") At Udispattu (2.3 miles) take first left onto Rangalaroad. Drive 0.3 miles and park beside tatty Escort.

Receding Hare Line

Run No. 44	Owl Prydovour Alley	23rd September
Run No. 45	Late Starter Hash Almanac	14th October
Run No. 46 and 47	Nuwara Eliya Weekend Joint CHHH KHHH VHHH	20th October 21st October
Run No. 48	Painstaking	4th November
Run No. 49	Deep Throat	18th November
Run No. 50	Marathon Man	2nd December
Run No. 51	Superstar	16th December
Run No. 52	Monarch of the Glen	Boxing Day

N.B. Run No. 50 has been postponed by a week to avoid the raft race scheduled for 7th October.